EWH at Duke gives students design project experience and teach practical electronics skills. There are projects available for all ability levels and members are presented with a great opportunity to learn from upperclassmen as well as professors. To learn more about the EWH Summer Institute, see the EWH National website.